

SILVER LOVING CUP FOR DIXON HIGH QUINTET

Defeated in Semi-Finals, Dixon Boys Get Honors for Sportsmanship.

BEST IN APPEARANCE

Boys From This City Made Dandy Impression with Fans and Players.

Tired out with their strenuous work against Sycamore and Savanna, Dixon High school basketball team—the smallest team, man for man, in the district tournament at Rockford—gamedly tackled the Belvidere team, which had had to play but one game, in the semi-finals at Rockford Saturday afternoon, and at 3:30 o'clock when the contest was over, the tired but plucky boys from this city had been eliminated from the tournament after a record which has set all of the fans at the tournament talking about them.

Belvidere won from the tired Dixon boys 21 to 10, and went against Rockford in the finals Saturday evening, and lost to the Forest City lads, 38 to 34.

Best Sportsmen.
But the fatigued Dixon boys found a great consolation awaiting them when they were called onto the floor during the half rest in the final between Rockford and Belvidere Saturday evening and were presented with a silver loving cup for their fine sportsmanship and excellent appearance. The Rockford Star of Sunday says of this feature:

During the half rest between Rockford and Belvidere last night Mayor Rew was introduced to the audience and he made a speech of presentation to Dixon, to whose captain he presented a silver loving cup as a token of their sportsmanlike conduct and their neat appearance. The cup is given annually by Hickory's. Captain Hess accepted the cup in behalf of this team and thanked the management and the strong Rockford backers for their fine treatment of his five here. Coach John C. Vezina, Jr., of Dixon, was also present on the occasion.

All fans present united in a great cheer for the Dixons.

What Papers Say.
The impression the Dixon team made on the spectators and officials of the tourney may be gained from the following excerpts from Rockford papers, concerning the boys from this city:

Savanna Easy for Dixon.
Dixon waltzed away from Savanna, 48 to 7, yesterday afternoon, the work of Rowley and the diminutive Jones for the victors being easily the feature of the game.

Dixon's teamwork, coupled with the ability of its two fast forwards to evade the Savanna guards, Daphin and Homedew, and sneak down under the basket, gave the Rock river boys a big lead early in the contest.

Jones, who tips the beam at 100 pounds, was the delight of the big crowd that jammed Armory hall. He picked off five field goals—three of them coming in rapid succession in the third quarter—and put up a great battle all the way through.

In an account of the Dixon victory over Sycamore, one of the Rockford papers says:

M'ALPINE QUOTES SOME TAX FIGURES

Says Consolidation Would Increase Taxes in South Side School Area.

To the Voters of School District No. 27:

The following is a statement of the equalized valuations of the property situated in School District 23 and 27, together with the rate of tax levied for school purposes in the year 1918:

Assessed valuation of property in School District No. 23	Assessed valuation of property in School District No. 27
$1,013,221.00	2,506,636.00
Tax levied at the rate of $3.00 per $100.00 on equalized value..	Tax levied at the rate of $1.66 per $100.00 on equalized value..
29,905.65	39,484.58

If said school districts are consolidated the result will be to decrease the rate of taxation in School District No. 23, thirty-three per cent, and will increase the same in School District No. 27, twenty-five per cent. To illustrate: A person in School District No. 23, paying school taxes on $1,000 assessed valuation at present pays $30.00, and if consolidated he will pay on the same amount $20.00. A person in School District No. 27 paying taxes on the same amount at present pays $16.60, and if consolidated will pay $26.00. The rate of taxation during the past eleven years has been less in School District No. 23.

Believing that the tax payers of School District No. 27 should have the above information, the undersigned examined the records, and the amounts above given are correct.

North Dixon Voters Should Attend Meet

All of the voters of the North Dixon school district are urged to attend the mass meeting at the high school building at 8 o'clock this evening, at which time the proposed consolidation of the north and south side school districts, on which proposition the voters of the two districts will vote next Saturday, will be discussed. Ample opportunity for questions will be given at this meeting, and the plan of consolidation and the benefits to be derived will be fully explained. The meeting has been called by Mark D. Smith, president of the North Dixon Board of Education.

Double Headed Rooster Trying To Run In Two Directions At Same Time Is Pathetic; So Is City With Two Separate School Systems

(By FRANCIS G. BLAIR, State Supt. of Instruction.)

Bill Nye used to say, in his humorous fashion, that the most humorous and pathetic thing he ever saw was a double-headed rooster trying to run in opposite directions at the same time. Of course, a city with two separate high school districts under the control of two separate boards of education can hardly be characterized in that way, but we have had in Illinois as many as 20 cities which contain two separate school districts. It seemed in every case to obstruct the development of a real community city spirit. Around these separate schools grew up traditions, sentiments and partisanship which tended to keep the town or city divided. Sometimes the feeling approached hostility and bitterness. Every effort to consolidate these districts was an attempt to unscramble scrambled eggs. No one, if he had the thing to do from the beginning, would think of taking a municipality and dividing it into separate school districts. Such a situation, like Topsy, just grew up without any thought or plan on the part of anybody, but having once come to be in some cities, it has resisted every effort towards alteration. In the cities of Mendota and Belvidere, in particular, there had come to be a feeling so intense that the city house was divided against itself. No city wide proposition could be discussed without the school situation obtruded. After many years of agitation these cities consolidated their schools. Everything that has come to me from these cities since that time has indicated the fine results which followed from this union.

I believe that within the last 12 years least 10 or 15 of these double-headed schools have united. I believe that in the interest of economy and of a united spirit and cooperation the schools within the limits of every city should be under one control.

AGED ASHTON MAN IS CALLED ON SATURDAY

George Geyer, Sr., Passed Away at Daughter's Home in That City.

George Geyer, Sr., aged resident of Ashton, passed away Saturday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Roy Farver. The funeral services will be held Tuesday afternoon at 1 o'clock at the United Evangelical church. Mr. Geyer's health had been failing for the past year, although he had been confined to the house but a short time before his death. He is survived by three sons: Peter, George and August, and two daughters, Mrs. John Cordes, Jr., and Mrs. Roy Farver, all of Ashton with the exception of Mrs. Cordes, whose home is in Oregon.

James Lee, Colored, Enlivened "Twenty-second St." District Sunday.

Justice Takes Hand
Mr. Hanneken Told Lee His Methods of Love-Making Were Bad—$10 Please.

After an unusual period of quiet, "Twenty-second Street"—that part of Dixon lying in the immediate vicinity of Lincoln avenue and the North Western right of way—broke into police limelight again Saturday night, all because James Lee, (colored) in a fit of jealousy, showed his great love for his wife, Florence, by bouncing a "loaded" cuspidor off her head.

The "love-spat" started at the Lee domicile near the old corset factory. Florence thought James was too demonstrative in his affection, and she beat it to the "little green house" to escape James strenuous love mak-

SUNDAY SCHOOL ASSN. MEETING TUESDAY EVE

Dixon Community Workers Anticipate Fine Meeting at Methodist Church.

Plans are completed and every indication points to a most interesting meeting of the Dixon community Sunday school officers, teachers, supply teachers, their husbands and wives. In fact anyone really interested in Sunday school work, tomorrow evening at the Methodist church.

The scramble supper will start at 6:30 sharp, after which there will be a short business session. The Westminster Male Quartette, composed of Messrs. E. B. Raymond, Rev. Tidball, Prof. Stoddard and B. Green, will sing two numbers.

Rev. Clyde Lemont Hay of the Board of Sunday Schools of the M. E. church of Chicago will deliver the address of the evening. His subject will be "The Educational Opportunity of the Church." The Sunday School workers who heard Rev. Hay last year will need no urging to be present again. It is expected that the basement of the church will be well filled to hear a real message from a live wire in Sunday school work.

VICTORY BOND BILL PASSES; OTHERS TO GO THROUGH TODAY

Wheat Price Guarantee Bill and Rail Appropriation Up.

ARMY BILL MAY WAIT

No Immediate Call for Extra Session Will Be Necessary.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, March 3.—With the Victory Loan bill out of the way, the passage of which early yesterday practically ended the effort to force an extra session of congress in advance of the President's return to France, both branches of congress went to work early today with the hope of clearing up the mass of bills, few of which leaders thought would be put through.

Democratic leaders predicted that while the army and navy measures will not pass this session it is certain that the bill for the wheat price guarantee and the general deficiency appropriation with the $750,000,000 additional administration would be enacted before the sine die adjournment.

There seems to be little chance of getting through nearly a dozen bills including the one carrying the agricultural bill rider to repeal the daylight saving act. The sundry civil bill carrying a $600,000,000 appropriation, the omnibus bill, and the measure providing federal control and regulation of the meat packing industry are only a few of the measures which are expected to die on the styrustriffin'sho. o'ult taoin taoin calendar.

Washington, D. C., March 2.—With the Victory bond bill passed by the senate at 6:18 o'clock this morning, the wheat price guarantee bill sent to the conference committee of the two houses for final shaping, and the $750,000,000 railroad appropriation made a special order for tomorrow, the prospect is that congress will have enacted by Tuesday Republican congress.

MRS. ANNA KEARNEY, DIXON PIONEER, DEAD

Aged Lady Passed Away at Her Home, 204 First St., Sunday Night.

FUNERAL THURSDAY

Mrs. Anna Kearney, for many years a resident of this city, passed away at her home, 204 First street, at 11:45 o'clock Sunday night, death coming after an illness of about a week's duration. Funeral services will be held at St. Patrick's Catholic church at 10:30 o'clock Thursday morning, with burial at Oakwood.

Mrs. Kearney was born in Ireland, June 29, 1839, coming to America in her childhood, and nearly all of her life in this country, with the exception of a few years in Chicago, had been spent in this city. Her husband and one daughter preceded her in death, her surviving children being: Rev. Fathers Joseph and William, Attorney Peter, Dr. James and Miss Gertrude Kearney, all of Chicago, and Charles A. Kearney of this city.

Mrs. Kearney's chief interest was always in her home, and this interest was maintained until the last, a fact that is attested by the eager desire her children always had to return here for visits.

The babe's mother was a victim of influenza.

SHERMAN CRITICISES PRESIDENT AND PLAN FOR NATIONS' LEAGUE

Says Constitution is "Pandora's Boxful of Evils" for American.

CHARGE OF AUTHORITY

Peace Conference Committee Fixes Amount Enemy Should Pay.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, D. C., March 3.—The constitutionality of the league of nations as presented by the peace conference was pictured today to the senate by Senator Sherman of Illinois, Republican, as a "Pandora's boxful of evils" which would, "empty upon the American people the aggregated calamities of the world."

Senator Sherman sharply criticized President Wilson and asked him who authorized him to "rear above the republic an autocratic power." He added that the authority was not to be found in the Constitution of the United States nor was it implied from the undefined war powers, and gave it as his opinion that the President acted either as a "usurper of dictatorship."

"Shall we not ask, with the dramatist" the Senator said, "Now in the name of all the Gods at once, upon what does this Caesar feed that he has grown so great?"

"He has adroitly maneuvered himself into the spotlight as the founder of peace and the perpetual guardian of mankind," Senator Sherman said. "As he kept us out of war in 1916 so will he keep us out of impending wars conjured up to serve the issues of 1920, and keep us at peace forever, if we but accept him again. Like his neutrality as a prelude to unprepared war, his peace league engages not in one war but in all the wars that scourge the earth. It is simple but deadly. Apparently an open covenant of peace it is a masked charter of unceasing war, the voice of Mars but the hand of Woodrow."

TWO CODES—ONE FOR A MAN, ANOTHER FOR A WOMAN. CHAPTER XXXI.

The next morning at breakfast I recurred to the subject.

"You and I are partners, dear. I would do anything in the world to help you. But you must tell me things, let me understand what you are doing, if I am to be of use. Attempting to do something blindly, I might make an irreparable mistake."

"Don't moralize, Bab. I really have nothing to tell you. Do as you did last night. Be charming when I ask you, to even to a bore like Scott. Be sure I shall not inflict his like upon you without a good reason."

Clearly, he did not wish to continue the subject, for he began at once to talk of something else. He had met Lorraine Morton; he thought she was looking particularly well—anything but the one thing about which I was curious.

Neil never had taken me into his confidence upon subjects that were of interest to him. I believed that the lightest, as well as the heaviest anxieties, the smallest as well as the greatest pleasures, should be equally shared by husband and wife. Yet, after three years of married life, I had accomplished nothing. Practically, I knew no more of his affairs than I did the day the dear old minister at home had married us. I recalled with dissatisfaction that never had he talked to me of the many little details which surely would have been of interest to me. His attitude always had been: "I've made the money, I shall make more as we need it. Your wants are anticipated, what more can you possibly demand of me?"

Many women are fated to spinsterhood and properly. But I had been constituted by nature to be some man's wife; the repository of his secrets, his helpmates. It was, therefore, with a shock that I discovered how little I really knew of him. I was unusually in love with Neil, and I was correspondingly anxious that he love me unstintingly. That he was eternally busy, his mind and thoughts occupied with these "deals," as he called them, seemed to me a matter for complaint. Yet I rarely complained. I had learned that was not the way to hold his love. I adored him, I adored living with him in our beautiful home. I fancied there was here an atmosphere which I found nowhere else. I couldn't explain the difference; I could only feel it.

Neil, at times, was voluble and witty. Under the spell of his animated conversation, worries and anxieties seemed to vanish. I had begun to understand that he might have a wonderful attraction for other women, as well as for me. The thought was far from being either pleasant or comforting.

I knew Neil well enough to know that he would brook no divided allegiance on my part. I thought he should realize that I held the same ideas, was swayed by the same emotions; yet I knew he did not, could not appreciate that this was so. He was Neil. I was some one else.

Two codes—one for a man, the other for the woman who bore his name.

That this was unfair, did not alter the facts. Women have kicked against the pricks from time immemorial—and they will go on kicking as long as the world shall last and there are men and women to love and be loved.

Neil had one attribute that convinced me he still loved me, even when I dared doubt it; that was he still took delight in the merest trivialities of affection. An unexpected gift, a little surprise of the table, something of which he was fond, and which it was difficult to procure, would always call forth the most extravagant praise and expressions of pleasure. Once I said to him:

"I don't think, Neil darling, that you realize what an exquisite joy it is for a woman to be told that she is loved. I like to be told so over and over."

And in saying this, I was not only speaking for myself, but for all women who love and who long to be loved in return.

CURRAN-FIELDING—

With nuptial high mass this morning at 9 o'clock at St. Mary's church, Rev. Fr. Conley solemnized the marriage of Miss Anna Fielding, daughter of M. J. Fielding, of South Dixon, and Mr. Harold Curran, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Curran, of this city.

Miss Margaret Fielding attended her sister as maid of honor and Wm. Hanna, of Dixon, served as best man. Miss Hazel Lilly played the wedding march from "Lohengrin" as the wedding party took its place at the altar.

Both the bride and her maid of honor wore attractive tailored suits in blue, the bride wearing a transparent picture hat in black and the maid of honor a hat in rose color. A corsage bouquet of sweet peas and tea roses in pink and yellow was worn by the bride; that of the maid of honor was all in pink, the same flowers being used.

A five-course breakfast followed at the home of the bride's father, with fifty guests present, including from out of town, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley McKee and Miss Julia Fielding, of Morrison, Leo Fielding, of Camp Grant, Miss Margaret Lynch, of Chicago, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Grebe, of Aurora. The Misses Helen Fane, Anna Fielding, of Morrison and Anna Grebe, of Aurora, helped in the serving at 11 o'clock of the breakfast. Pink and white carnations and smilax were used upon the tables and decorative place cards were at each place.

During the reception held in the afternoon William Fane and Stanley McKee, of Morrison, furnished music, the former on the piano and the latter on the violin.

Mr. and Mrs. Curran, amid the best wishes of the merry company, left at 4 o'clock for Chicago. After two weeks they will make their home on Peoria avenue, Dixon.

Threatened Violence to Yanks in Berlin

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Berlin, March 3.—During a demonstration on the return of General von Lettow-Vorbeck and some of his East African troops this afternoon, crowds of enthusiasts shook their fists and shouted at a member of American officers sitting in the window of a hotel when the American mission is quarters. Others clapped their hands and cheered the Americans and the officers withdrew, fearing that their presence might provoke trouble. The hostile crowd stayed around the hotel for a long time, offering remarks about the French mission, which also had headquarters in the hotel, because of an unfounded report that the French had hissed the German procession. Finally German troops were drawn up in front of the hotel to prevent violence. The reception to the former German commander savored of the old regime. The imperial flag fluttered everywhere instead of the banner of the German republic. Patriotic songs of the old regime rang out in the old way.

24 BILLION POUNDS IS ALLIED WAR BILL

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Paris, March 3.—The peace conference committee estimates that 24,000,000,000 pounds, Sterling, is the amount that enemy countries ought to pay to the allied and associated powers, says a Havas Agency statement.

France, the statement adds immediate payment of 1,000,000,000 pounds part in gold, part in materials and part in foreign securities. France recommends that the remainder of the amount be made payable during a period of from 25 to 35 years.

Washington, March 3.—Violation of the corrupt practices act on the part of officers of the National Security League is charged in the House and a committee has been appointed to investigate the activities of that organization in the last campaign.

WOMEN BIG HELP ON VICTORY LIBERTY LOAN

Preliminary Work Is Well Mapped Out—Big Showing in Former Loans to Be Exceeded This Time.

Preliminary returns show that the women workers of the Seventh Federal Reserve district are out to make a big showing in the Victory Liberty Loan. Women chairmen and workers are everywhere signing up for the fifth campaign. There have been very few resignations, it is reported, from women who felt that their obligation to the nation had ended because the fighting in France was ended.

On the contrary, it is asserted by Miss Grace Dixon, director for women, Seventh district, and by other leaders in the women's loan activities, the women workers feel more strongly than ever their obligation to get out and personally go after bond subscriptions. The very fact that individuals are found who do not appreciate the obligation resting upon the civilian population has aroused in double force the patriotic sense of duty in the breast of the women workers. These are asserting through letters received at Chicago headquarters by every mail that they intend to work twice as hard as in any preceding loan—if that be possible—in order to counteract the "quitter" sentiment that is manifesting itself among certain individuals in every community.

Preliminary work is well mapped out in a majority of the counties in the district. It is planned to have a larger number of women workers enrolled everywhere than was the case in the preceding loans. Workers already are securing pledges from recruits and veterans and it is promised that a better showing will be made in every state than in any of the Liberty loans so far placed.

The fifth loan, it is pointed out, will come at a time when women on the farms and in the smaller communities can give an especially large amount of time to the loan work. The drive, coming in April, will precede the active farm and garden work and the women will, therefore, be in a position to concentrate on the campaign in a way they were unable to do in the fourth loan.

The results of the Victory Loan are expected to prove a monument to the patriotism and self-sacrifice of the women of the Seventh Federal Reserve district, for the spirit of service is the animating principle of the American people at this time.

Stone for Rosaries.

The rosaries sold at Kandahar are extensively manufactured from soft, crystallized silicate of magnesia. This is quarried from a hill about thirty miles northwest of the city, where soapstone and antimony are also obtained in considerable abundance. The stone varies in color from a light yellow to a bluish white, and is generally opaque.

SGT. METZLER HURT; TRUCK WAS WRECKED

Dixon Soldier Seriously Injured When Truck Was Hit By Train in France.

ONE MAN IS KILLED

Mrs. H. W. Stevens this morning received a letter from Tra' Lewis of Battery C, 123 F. A. (formerly Co. G, Sixth In N. G.) in which he tells of a serious accident which befell her son, Sgt. Howard Metzler, in which one man was killed and another badly hurt.

The letter, which was written from Prellingen, Luxemburg, stated that on Jan. 28, Metzler was sent with other members of the motor corps to the south of France to return with trucks. While crossing railroad tracks near Lyons, the truck on which the Dixon man was riding was struck by a fast mail train, Sgt. Maj. Fitzgibbons being instantly killed and Sgt. Metzler received severe injuries about the head, shoulders and neck. He was taken to a French hospital, where he is now receiving treatment.

PATRIOTIC APPEAL BY SENATOR THOMAS.

Bolshevism has given the world a hideous illustration of the fundamental truth that when liberty is divorced from law, justice disappears, says U. S. Senator Thomas in a recent speech in New York City. Some excerpts follow:

The freedom of unrestrained license is the only freedom of the mob.
Under the sway of that many headed despot, crime holds high carnival. Robbery, rape and murder are daily pastimes. The only authority is that of the strongest and community life is transformed from a protection to a menace.

It is this chaos that international socialism would lead the world.
Russian anarchy is popularly ascribed to the oppressions of the Romanoff dynasty, whose downfall shattered the foundation of the empire.
That is largely true.

Yet it is a sinister fact that excepting Lenin, nearly all the leaders of Russian bolshevism graduated from the swarming centers of New York, Chicago and Philadelphia. Trotsky, Volodarsky, Kritsky, Martoff, are some of them.

Their bloody program was formulated here, and here they proposed to test it, when opportunity beckoned and Russia became their victim.

From that continental slaughter house they salute their accessories in America and urge them to the commission of similar atrocities.

We must unify our citizenship,
We must bring our institutions and traditions home to the understanding of every one.

We must discourage the community life of the foreigner by teaching him the need for assimilation.

We must require him to become naturalized within a fixed time after his arrival or return whence he came.

We must make him learn the English tongue and become reasonably familiar with the requirements of citizenship as a candidate of naturalization.

We must suppress all associations devoted to the commission of crime and the advocacy of disorder.

We must radically change our immigration laws.

We must have no ensign but the Stars and Stripes. We can have no companionship with the red flag of anarchy and revolution.

We must assert and enforce the equal protection of the laws, do away with the mob and gibbet and lyncher.

We must teach the great truth that organized and ordered society is essential to man's existence and that protection of life and property is the basis of all government worthy of the name.

We must demonstrate that the strict observance of law is necessary alike to the happiness of nations and the security of communities.

We must make treason odious.

We must harmonize the discordant factions of industry and commerce.

We must, if need be, forget party ties in the stress of tremendous obligation.

We may each and all, faithful to our traditions, and reverencing our ideals, struggle as democrats and republicans for the supremacy of our convictions, but we must remember that we are, above all, Americans, whose first and final duty is to perpetuate the welfare and shape the destiny of the great republic. The ark of democracy's covenant was committed to Anglo-Saxon keeping long ago.

Our fathers have proven worthy of the trust; we, too, must keep the faith.

BRITAIN'S INDUSTRIAL UNREST.

Widespread industrial unrest has reached such proportions in Great Britain that an industrial parliament has been called and is now in session.
This gathering is composed of representatives of employees and employers, together with government delegates, and its object is to inquire into the causes of the present condition and find, if possible, remedial agencies. Labor has formulated and presented its demands, and they are about this:

That labor proposes to have, hereafter, a fair share of the profits of its work, and that it is not to be considered a mere commodity, to be bought, sold and used as though it was a machine-like unit in the process of wealth production and distribution. The unions stand for government ownership of mines, railways and means of inland and coastal transport.

One of the most serious complaints of the labor unions in Great Britain, voiced by delegates to this meeting is that the "excess profits duty has not mitigated the effect of profiteering in the slightest degree, its only use being to make the profiteers agents of the treasury and to pass on the burden of paying for the war from the shoulders of the rich to the general body of the community." The labor speakers maintain that every wage increase is passed on to the consumer, cancelling every improvement instantly and automatically.

Having licked the Germans, we are now going to pay for the privilege--and keep on paying for years to come.

Most of us are trying to figure out how we can save enough to pay our income taxes. In this connection, the farmers of Lee County have the advantage of their competitors, for they can buy the very best tractor plows made, right here in their own home town--the kind on which other farmers pay the freight to all parts of the world.

The next time you talk to a soldier with a gold or blue chevron on his sleeve, ask him whether or not the French are a thrifty race. You can just bet your last centime they are--and then some.

Well, they thought enough of our plows to buy several thousand last year--and pay the freight.

CHAPTER IV.

Trench Shows Feeling.

From Cruthers' office Jerry Trench went straight to the Farewell club, but he didn't enter by the imposing front door.

There was another way, known well enough to Trench and just a few of the men who knew him, but who the general public never suspected knew Trench at all.

Through this back entrance the politician made his way to a small room, unostentatiously furnished, and sank down in a chair by the cheap desk which carried nothing in the way of ornamentation upon its rusty top. There was a ten-cent bottle of ink, a few pieces of plain paper, a large, clean blotter that covered a good part of the desk's top and generally concealed the unvarnished surface.

"Dick MacLean," muttered Trench, deep in his chair, his cigar turning slowly from one corner of his mouth to the other.

Trench knew MacLean well; he had liked the young Harvard man who had begun at the bottom of the newspaper ladder and was climbing rapidly to the top.

For perhaps half an hour Trench never moved. The man appeared lost in day-dreams, but in reality his brain was working fast.

At last he aroused himself suddenly and walked across the room to the telephone on a side table.

He called three numbers and went back to his desk.

There was no question about it; Dick MacLean had been the man who had called at the bank for the package.

Another half hour Trench sat deep in his chair, and then, as the spring night came on, there was a faint tap at the door across the room, not the door by which the politician had gained his private room.

Trench raised his head. The knock came, once, twice, with a pause, and then three sharp raps.

"Come in," he growled.

The door opened slowly, admitted a man, and closed again. Trench hadn't moved, but his eyes were on the face of the little wizened Irishman who had proven himself a safeguard against undesirable callers for a good many years.

"It's Mr. Cruthers, sir. He's sure you are here, after having been out yer house and not finding yer there at all, sir. He says he must see yer."

Trench simply nodded, and O'Brien glided out of the room as quickly as he had entered. A few moments later the door opened again and Samuel Cruthers, flushed and excited, came bustling in.

"At last!" he cried, drawing up a chair and dropping into it. "I've looked everywhere for you, Trench. They swore you weren't here. Why the devil don't you leave word when you come in?"

Trench hadn't made a sign. He didn't answer now, nor did he move.

Cruthers, who had known the man only recently, save by reputation, was obviously annoyed.

"Why'd you walk out of my office like that? Man, this thing has got to be looked into! The police have got to land MacLean. I only held off from going to them because you said you'd be in town at once. Have you set them hunting?"

"Have you?" came the mumbled question.

Cruthers mopped his damp forehead. "No, I haven't, but I will. I've got to, Trench. I've got to do something! Heavens, man, don't you see what this means? Fifty thousand dollars may not mean much to you—you who deal in big figures—but it's everything to my clients. My reputation is at stake here. I agreed with the Midweather people to get you to put that bill through, and when you named what it would cost, we raised the money. Now—now—" but the lawyer's rush of words ended haltingly as he got not even a sign from Trench's expression that the man heard him.

"Trench, what are you going to do?" asked Cruthers after the two men had looked each other in the eyes and Cruthers's glance had fallen.

"The police aren't wanted in this," came from the politician's lips.

"What! Do you mean you aren't going to move a finger to catch MacLean?"

Trench simply continued to study Cruthers.

Suddenly the lawyer leaped to his feet in disgust. He was a tall, angular man, gray to white in hair, and of a decidedly nervous temperament. The non-committal manner of Trench worked upon his overwrought nerves. He couldn't stand it any longer.

"I'll go to them, then; I'll set them hunting; I'll—"

"Tell them that you put up fifty thousand dollars to buy the legislature," nodded Trench.

"What?" and Cruthers swung about.

"Isn't that what you did?" came the dry question.

Cruthers's answer was not forthcoming on the instant. His eyes shifted from the steady regard of the man in the chair.

"No," he suddenly blurted out. "I turned over that money to you. I don't know what you were going to do with it."

A slow smile touched the thin lips. "Sounds good, Cruthers, for children to hear. The police, in my experience, mean publicity. Want the public to know that the Midweather people were—ready to pay fifty thousand for the control of the State water rights?"

Cruthers came back and sat down. "What are we to do then?" he questioned haltingly.

"I'll do it. The police—bah! MacLean got the package; I've made certain of that. I'm moving. You go back to your office and wait to hear from me."

"But what am I going to tell my people?" pleaded the lawyer.

"I don't know. If I was in your boots—you've asked me and I don't generally advise other people what they should do—I'd keep quiet. Unless you yell, your clients won't know but what their money is safe and sound. I shan't tell them."

Cruthers's brows came down in a frown. "You mean you'll get the money? Why, yes," brightening suddenly, "you can do it. Man, you've got the situation in the hollow of your hand. You can get that package again."

"Can I? We'll see."

"But—"

Trench sat up and Cruthers's words died on his lips.

"When you came to me and asked me to see the Midweather people through, did I say I'd do it?"

"No, but you—"

"I told you I'd see what I could do when fifty thousand dollars was placed in the hands of the bank, subject to my orders. You did that. Now I'll see what I can do."

It wasn't the answer that Cruthers wanted, by any manner of means, but it was all that he got. He endeavored to find out what the silent, taciturn politician intended to do, but he might as well have spared himself the breath it took to ask his many questions. He departed no wiser than when he arrived.

Yet he went away strong in the trust that Trench would accomplish what he saw he himself could not, what he realized might never be accomplished through the police, with the risk of world-wide publicity—the very thing he knew well was not to be risked at any cost.

Trench, left alone, settled down in his chair again, and a full hour passed before he arose, pulled a string close to the door, and took his departure by the way he had entered the room.

O'Brien, outside in the narrow hall, saw the little disk drop, released by the string Trench pulled, and also departed, knowing his master would not need his services again that night.

Going down the ill-lighted street, upon which faced the house from which Trench had emerged, the politician walked to a garage and, in a few minutes, was speeding out into the country.

As he walked up the broad steps of his home two girls came hurrying toward him.

"Oh, Uncle Jerry!" cried Edith Trench, throwing her arms about the man's neck and planting a kiss upon his sunburnt cheek, "where in the world have you been? Everyone in Concord has been after you, Jack Spinder was here, Mr. Cruthers, and Dick MacLean was looking for you yesterday."

"I guess Mr. MacLean didn't mind," smiled Marjory Holcomb, brushing back her hair as the wind tossed it about her olive cheeks. "He seemed quite satisfied to find Edith."

"Nothing of the kind," laughed the fair-haired girl. "He really wanted to find you, Uncle Jerry. He said he went up to the camp and just missed you. Where have you been hiding since you came back to Concord?"

"Business," And the politician's wrinkled face actually broke into a smile as he patted Edith's corn-colored hair.

"Always business," pouted the girl. "Did you see Dick?"

Trench paused as he was about to go into the wide hall. He didn't look around, but his head lifted slowly.

"No, I didn't see—Dick," he answered. "Was he here?"

"He called me up about noon yesterday, saying he was trying to find you. I couldn't tell him a thing, and so he just went on hunting for you. He was out here about dark, just for a little while, and left, insisting that he knew you were in Concord somewhere and he must locate you."

"Did he say what he wanted to see me about?" questioned the man.

"Why, no," hesitated Edith.

"He didn't get to that," laughed Marjory. "He and Edith had other things to talk about."

Trench turned slowly and looked at his niece. The light from the hall fell full upon her face, and the deep, tell-tale flush which stole into her perfect cheeks was noted by her uncle, if he gave no sign.

"Dick went to the railroad station about noon," he said. "Just a little after noon I heard that. Thought perhaps that he left town then."

Edith shook her head, sending the waving strands of light hair dancing about her face. Tall and slender beside her friend, who was as dark as Miss Trench was fair, the girl looked like a dainty ivory, done by a master hand. Trench watched her for a moment. His little eyes blinked strangely, and then he went into the house. He heaved one deep sigh as he passed down the hall. It was a strange thing for the tireless, unemotional man to do, but possibly his thoughts warranted a slight display of feeling upon his part.

SOLDIERS' LETTERS

The following letter was received by Mrs. John Winters from her son, Pvt. Charles Winters, of Nachusa, Ill., who has recently returned from France:

January 15, 1919.

Dear Mother:

I will write and let you know that I am back in the U. S. A. and well. I will try and tell you where I have been the last three months. On the 25th day of September I left on an English ship called the Plassy, and had rough sea going over. A lot of the fellows got sick and four died on our ship—three were buried in the sea. We landed in Liverpool, Eng., on the 7th of October and from there we went to Southampton, Eng., and stayed there about two days and then we went to LeHarve, France, and after one day there, went to Fort DeStains, France, and from there to Brest, France. I received the Christmas package in Brest on the 24th of December, and, believe me, it was worth a thousand dollars in that country. We left Brest for the U. S. the 30th day of December and landed on the 11th day of January, and, believe me, it surely was heaven to get back. I think I will soon be home. A fellow cannot tell you all that he saw in France in a letter. Well, I will close and write often from now on.

MARTIAL LAW IN SPAIN.

By Associated Press Leased Wire. Madrid, March 1.—Martial law has been declared in Madrid and troops are patrolling the streets. Order has been restored but some theaters are still closed, the action resulting from rioting against profiteers today, in which provision and butcher shops were attacked by the mobs. The government has taken over all bake shops.

LESS MEAT IF BACK AND KIDNEYS HURT

Take a glass of Salts to flush Kidneys if Bladder bothers you—Drink lots of water.

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well-known authority, because the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish; clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney disease.

29,000 "WET" PLACES

PREPARE TO GO OUT OF BUSINESS IN 4 MONTHS

Over That Number of Saloons in Six Middle West States Hit By Law.

MANY HEAVY LOSERS

Distillers Claim Their Losses Will Greatly Exceed Those of Brewers.

By Associated Press. Chicago, Ill., March 1.—More than twenty-nine thousand drinking places in the six "wet" states of the Central West—Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Missouri, Kentucky and Ohio—are to go out of existence four months from today if America abolishes liquor traffic, for the first time in history, under the president's war-time prohibition order.

Millions of dollars worth of property used as distilleries, breweries, saloons, wine rooms and roadhouses already has changed hands and is being converted into new lines of industry, according to reports received here.

Many small breweries, and a few large ones, have arranged to become manufacturing, cold storage plants or artificial ice factories. In Wisconsin, which produces a sixth of all beer brewed, one big brewery has disposed of its fixtures and sold its kegs as "Liberty Cabbage" containers.

Distillers Heavy Losers. The two hundred Kentucky distillers claim their financial losses will far surpass those of brewers because location and peculiar construction of distilleries will not permit of easy conversion to other industries. Owners of isolated roadhouses, the rendezvous of gay auto parties, claim that they, too, will suffer heavy financial losses. They say it would be impossible to draw patrons to out of the way places without liquor inducements.

Wisconsin has 9,665 licensed drinking places; Illinois 8,418; Ohio, 5,600; Missouri, 3,000; Minnesota, 1,800 and Kentucky, 1,600.

Ohio's saloons are expected to close May 27 under an amendment to the state constitution.

Converting Saloons. Hundreds of saloons in the six states will be converted into soda shops, cafeterias, cafes, motion pictures, drug stores, haberdasheries and cozy soft drink-dancing emporiums. There will be a large increase in the number of drug stores, according to liquor dealers.

"Saloon fixtures as a rule are suitable for the drug store," said one big Chicago dealer. "For this reason there will be many more drug stores. And now with prohibition virtually a fact, the little verse we used to repeat in jest, can be said with a grain of sincerity: 'Hush, little barroom, 'Don't you cry, 'You'll be a drug store 'Bye and Bye.'"

Many Had "Reps." The closing will mark the passing of many saloons that for years have had almost national reputations. In Bridgeport, Ohio, is what is reputed to be the largest barroom in the world, with 263 feet of bar space; in Chicago is the smallest, "The Midget," with a space of but five feet; up in parts of Minnesota are resorts that almost form a part of the state's early history, places where the polyglot floaters from woods and fields, under the shadowy flare of kerosene lamps, staged gun battles that would cheapen the present day "movie" director.

In Chicago the trick stairways, electric currents and fire goings that caused rural visitors to "Heinie-gabubblers" to cut strange capers, while regular patrons doubled up in a gale of laughter, may be replaced with barber chairs and bath rooms. It was twenty years ago that "Heinie-gabubblers" opened its house of trap doors, sliding footmats and hissing serpents. Later similar places were opened in other cities.

It was not unusual to see a typical ruralite with broad-brimmed straw hat, overalls, high boots and grip sack, come sliding into State street after a one-story drop on a trick stairway.

Definite plans have not been made for disposal of Alderman "Hinky Dink" Kenha's "Workmen's Exchange," which advertised the biggest beer in Chicago and which sold as many as sixty barrels of beer over its 250 feet of mahogany in a single day. Righeimers, on South Clark street, for years a headquarters place of politicians and headquarters for election betting, may retain its fountains and costly fixtures and continue as a restaurant. More than $100,000 has been handled on one election by the proprietor.

Sunday closing and other restrictions caused the number of saloons in Chicago to dwindle from 9,000 to 5,000 in recent years. Chicago will vote on local option April 1, and a dry decision would close the saloons a month later.

Squarely Up to Every Individual to Get Busy by March 15 or Suffer Penalty.

"Don't wait until the final due date, March 15th, for paying your Income Tax and making your return. Avoid the last minute rush. Any person can figure out his liability today as well as he can next week, and if there is any point on which he needs advice he can now get in touch with a Revenue man."

This word of advice is being given out by Internal Revenue men. Returns and payments are being collected in Illinois by the following Collectors of Internal Revenue:

Julius F. Smetanka,
Edward D. McCabe,
John L. Pickering,
John M. Rapp.

Every aid of their offices and field forces is being given freely to the public.

But the Income Tax men will not pull your door-bell or your coat-tails, according to the Collector's announcement. It is squarely up to every individual to figure out his own case and to get busy if he comes within the scope of the new Revenue law.

Did You Earn This Much? Every unmarried person who received income averaging $19.25 a week during 1918 and every married couple who jointly received income averaging $38.50 a week should secure at once from the nearest Deputy Collector or the nearest bank a blank Form 1040 A. That form contains the information he will need to enable him to figure his correct net income and any tax that he owes the Government.

The law requires that every unmarried person who had a net income of $1,000 or over and every married person whose net income was $2,000 or over (including the income of husband or wife and the earnings of minor children, if any) must make a return on or before March 15th. And this requirement does not hinge on whether the person owes a tax.

Taxable Income. An individual must include under gross income all gains, profits and income derived from salaries, wages or compensation for personal service of whatever kind and in whatever form paid or from professions, vocations, business, sales or dealings in property of all kinds, interest, rent, dividends or profits derived from any source whatever. Very few items of income are exempt.

Deductions include ordinary and necessary business expenses, interest paid or accrued on indebtedness, taxes of all kinds except Federal income and excess profits taxes and assessments for local benefits, losses actually sustained, debts ascertained to be worthless and depreciation on buildings, machinery, fixtures, etc., used in business. A further deduction is allowed for contributions to corporations operated for religious, charitable, scientific or educational purposes or for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals to an amount not exceeding 15 per cent of the taxpayer's net income as computed without the benefit of the contribution deduction.

The taxpayer is not allowed to deduct any personal, living or family expense, any amount spent for improving property or making good its exhaustion for which an allowance is claimed under depreciation.

Figuring the Tax. Before figuring the normal tax the dividends are deducted as credits from net income, together with the personal exemption. As in previous years, dividends of domestic corporations are exempt from normal tax when received by the stockholder.

The normal tax rates for citizens and residents are as follows: On the first $4,000 of net income in excess of the credits the rate is 6 per cent; on any further taxable income the rate is 12 per cent.

The surtax rates apply to net income of each individual in excess of $5,000. The personal exemption and the dividends are not deductible before computing surtax. In the case of returns by husband and wife, the net income of each is considered separately in computing any surtax that may be due. Form 1040 should be used for making returns of net income exceeding $5,000, and the instructions on that form will show how to figure the surtax.

Business House Returns. Employers and others who paid wages, salaries, rents, interest or similar determinable gains in an amount of $1,000 or over during 1918 to any person must file an information return with the Government. Blanks may be secured from the Collector.

Every partnership must file a return showing its income and deductions and the name and address of each partner, with his share of the profits or losses during the past year. Personal service corporations will file similar information for 1918.

Look and Feel Clean, Sweet and Fresh Every Day

Drink a glass of real hot water before breakfast to wash out poisons.

Life is not merely to live, but to live well, eat well, digest well, work well, sleep well, look well. What a glorious condition to attain, and yet how very easy it is if one will only adopt the morning inside bath. Folks who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when they arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter. Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should, each morning, before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. While you are enjoying your breakfast the water and phosphate is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs. The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, stomach trouble, rheumatism; others who have sallow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store which will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of internal sanitation.

SHE COULD NOT STAND OR WORK

But Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Health and Stopped Her Pains.

Portland, Ind.—"I had a displacement and suffered so badly from it that at times I could not be on my feet at all. I was all run down and so weak I could not do my housework, was nervous and could not lie down at night. I took treatments from a physician but they did not help me. My Aunt recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I tried it and now I am strong and well again and do my own work and I give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound the credit."

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young. To do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.
Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.
Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that exuberance of spirit, that natural buoyancy which should be enjoyed by everyone, by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.
You will know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets by their olive color. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

WOMEN'S COUNCIL MEETS IN PARIS

Eighty Well-Known French Women Guests of Y. W. C. A. for Opening Session.

Paris, Feb. 2.—Eighty of the most prominent women in France who are interested in all women's problems attended the first meeting of the Provisional Council of the American Young Women's Christian Association, held at Paris headquarters, 8 Place Edouard VII, Jan. 30.

Mrs. Robert Lansing, wife of the Secretary of State, who is first vice-president of the council, presided, conducting all sessions in French, as two-thirds of the members represent French associations with whom the Y. W. C. A. has been co-operating.

All women in France are looking forward to the findings of the council as of tremendous importance not only to women in France, but all over the world. The purpose of the council is to collect and make available information about conditions and needs of women, to become acquainted with women who are identified with different kinds of work and to develop a few typical illustrations which will set standards for future permanent work.

Following are the societies represented: Union Chretienne des Jeunes Filles, Student Movement, Foyer des Aliees, Amies de la Jeune Fille, National Council of Women. Among the delegates were Mme. Jules Siegfried, Mme. Avril de St. Croix, Baroness Watterville, Countess Pourtales and Mme. Waldegrave de London.

Mrs. William G. Sharp, wife of the ambassador to France, is honorary chairman of the council and Mrs. Francis McNeill Bacon president pro tem. Miss Charlotte Niven, director of Y. W. C. A. work in Italy, is secretary.

Departmental and provincial groups will hold meetings weekly to discuss local problems, the entire council meeting at the end of each month. In April, at the last meeting, each group will decide how the information and experience may be used most effectively in the future.

Delegates are guests at the Hotel Petrograd, the Y. W. C. A. Hostess House in Paris.

Y. W. C. A. PROMOTES WORLD FELLOWSHIP

Will Send Industrial Commission to Meet Foreign Labor Leaders.

The War Work Council of the Young Women's Christian Association plans to send an industrial commission of women to England, France and Italy in April to meet prominent labor leaders of those countries with a view to promoting world fellowship among women.

The commission will be made up of Mrs. Raymond Robbins, representing the National Women's Trade Union League of America; Mrs. Irene Osgood Andrews, American Association for Labor Legislation; Miss Grace Drake, National Consumers' League; Mrs. James S. Cushman, chairman of the War Work Council of the Young Women's Christian Association; Miss Florence Simms, Miss Marie Wing and Miss Imogene B. Ireland, secretary to the commission, all of the Y. W. C. A. and Miss Mary Gilson, an authority on employment management.

Miss Florence Simms says in regard to the commission: "The war has forced upon us the bearing of international relationships in all things, and our touch with women in other countries has made us include in our international thinking the industrial life of women. The war has wrought so many changes in this that it seems a timely thing that women interested in the larger life of our women workers should take counsel together and express their interest with the hope that certain minimum standards which seem essential to health and welfare among women may be agreed upon and obtained."

Our War Work Council is sending abroad this women's commission from organizations in America directly concerned with the welfare and larger life of industrial women.

DOMESTIC SERVICE COURSES PLANNED

Trained Home-Maker Is to Have an Eight Hour Day and Standard Minimum Wage.

Courses for training home assistants, who will go into the home by the day, hour or week and work on a schedule of hours and fixed wages, have been inaugurated by the Young Women's Christian Association as a means for meeting the problem of domestic service.

The object of this course, now being tried out in New York City, is to place domestic service on the same dignified basis as clerical work, trained nursing or other professions open to women.

The home assistant will work eight hours a day for a salary of $15 a week. She will not live in the home of her employer or take her meals there. She will have an hour for luncheon, when she can go to a restaurant or eat a lunch which she has brought with her just as she would were she employed in a factory. The employer will not address the home worker by her first name. She will be Miss Smith or Mrs. Brown, as the case may be.

Applicants for the course are carefully selected, and registrants are appearing in large numbers. With the same independence as to recreation hours, places of eating and living as the factory girl, house-work has a greater appeal, as being a less monotonous and more interesting work to the average woman.

The course is a thorough one in plain cooking, waiting on table and door, chamber work, plain sewing, care of children, making of menus and the washing and ironing of light things. Heavy work is to be done by outside workers. On graduation the student receives a certificate which proves her qualification as a dependable home worker capable of attending to all ordinary duties in a home.

The Young Women's Christian Association has been interested in the problem of domestic service both from the standpoint of the employee and from that of the employer for some years. The first commission on Household Employment made its report at the fifth national convention of the Young Women's Christian Association held in Los Angeles, Cal., in May, 1915.

The difficulties of attracting capable women to this field of work were laid to the long hours, lack of independence in arranging recreation hours, lack of opportunities for growth and progress and lack of social standing.

Girls have acquired a distaste for the conditions which govern household work since the freedom they have experienced in working in munition factories. By standardizing domestic service it is believed by the Young Women's Christian Association that a higher type of worker may be attracted to the necessary work in homes.

The American Y. W. C. A. has opened a Hostess House in Germany, which will serve as a residence house and social center for American women workers who have advanced to do teen, Red Cross and Signal Corps work with the Army of Occupation.

WOMEN BEGIN Y. W. C. A. FOREIGN TRADE COURSES

Courses in New York City Prepare Girls for South American Jobs.

Seeing a sudden call to jobs for American women in South America, the New York City Y. W. C. A. has opened Foreign Trade courses, including classes in shipping, filing orders, trade acceptances, tariff, consular invoices, documents, insurance, mail order trade and other lines of international work hitherto left mostly to men. These classes are designed to meet after-war needs.

South America is receiving particular attention as the Y. W. C. A. is in formed of new jobs that are opening in the southern countries. Many girls in New York who combine a desire to see the world with a craving for financial independence are registering with the expectation of going there to get positions when their courses in training are completed.

the league.
Worried by Irish Question.

What is worrying the administration more than anything else is the attitude of Americans of Irish blood toward the peace league. The movement in this country to procure recognition of Ireland's right of self-determination is becoming formidable and is embarrassing the president.

The Irish are distrustful of article 10 of the league constitution, guaranteeing protection of the territorial integrity of the member nations from "external aggression." They fear that even moral aid of Irish independence by America would be construed as external aggression.

The whole question of Irish independence and its relation to the league of nations is scheduled to come before the house tomorrow in the Gallagher resolution.

BLOOD POISONING

Hamlin's Wizard Oil a Safe First Aid Treatment

How often lockjaw and blood poisoning result from the neglect of a slight scratch or little cut! Hamlin's Wizard Oil is a safe and effective first aid treatment. It is a powerful antiseptic and should be applied immediately to wounds of this kind to prevent danger of infection. It is soothing and healing and quickly drives out pain and inflammation in cases of sprains, bruises, cuts, burns, bites and stings. Just as reliable, too, for stiff neck, sore feet, cold sores, canker sores, earache and toothache.

Get it from druggists for 30 cents. If not satisfied return the bottle and get your money back. Ever constipated or have sick headache? Just try Wizard Liver Whips; pleasant little pink pills, 30 cents. Guaranteed.

DIXON HIGH QUINTET WINS SILVER HONOR

Barry, Dixon's capable young center, scored the first point of the tourney with a free throw on a personal foul by Tewksbury of Sycamore, shortly after hostilities began. Dixon piled up a lead of five points before Dean, of Sycamore, succeeded in registering a tally for the losers.

Dixon's trio of stars—Barry, Shaw and Hess—started a bombardment on the basket early in the second quarter, increasing their lead to 18 to 7 at the half.

Barry, Hess and Shaw opened up in the final quarter and Sycamore was unable to stop their assault, the final score totaling 29 to 18, with Dixon on the long end of the count. The blue and white exhibited superior team work and handled the ball with greater speed and precision than Sycamore.

Barry's work was easily the feature of the game. The elongated youth annexed 15 points for Dixon with five baskets and five free throws.

Willard Jones, the 100-pound diminutive right forward for Dixon, displayed an amazing ability to mix in the play despite his handicap in size. He stuck to the ball like a shadow and more than made up for his lack of pounds and inches by a fast, aggressive game during the three quarters he was in the battle.

An odd feature concerning the Dixon team is the fact that every member of the regulars, with the exception of Rowland, is fatherless, their mothers alone remaining to look with pride on their sport achievements. Coach Vezina says that Jones and Rowland, in addition to a first substitute by the name of Haley, have two more years in school which should increase Dixon's chances for a tourney championship next year.

Hess On Second Team.

Hess of the Dixon team is selected as captain of the Second All-Tournament team by Rockford experts, who is making the selections say:

Hess, the beefy Dixon leader, and running guard, is selected as captain and center of the second aggregation, as he is a good shot, a clever passer, a fleet man and has demonstrated fine leadership.

Camp Grant Garrison to Be Cut 50 Per Cent

Camp Grant, Ill., March 2. —The demobilization of 50 per cent of six organizations of Camp Grant will be begun late this week, it is expected. Only a garrison force of about 6,000 men will remain here, it is said.

Much confusion has been caused by the announcement that $60 extra pay will be allotted every soldier discharged. The report that officers will receive $200 is denied by military authorities.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Kramer have gone to Castalia, Ia., to visit with Mrs. Kramer's parents.

BOUNCED CUSPIDOR OFF WIFE'S HEAD TO PROVE LOVE FOR HER

ing. But Jimmie followed her and then there proved his undying love by heaving the aforesaid laden cuspidor at his sweetheart's bean. He qualified as a sharpshooter, too—or else Florence dodged in the wrong direction—for the missile landed squarely on the target.

Hurt About Head. It punctured her scalp, and in some manner she also ran her left eye against something, which caused it to swell shut. Her left hand was also badly gashed. Bleeding profusely from her cuts and sobbing that there was altogether too much caveman about James, she started for town, getting as far as Charles Long's home on Sixth street before anyone took notice of her condition.

Mr. Long summoned the police, who took her to the police station and later a doctor fixed Florence up. She made formal complaint before Justice Hanneken, who issued a warrant and fined James $10 for failing to make love in the latest approved manner. When last heard of everything was peaceful and quiet in the Lee household.

Charles E. VanLoan, Novelist, is Dead

Philadelphia, Pa., March 2.—Charles E. Van Loan, humorist, and famous as a writer of stories on sporting topics, died today of chronic nephritis at a hospital in Abington, Pa.

Mr. Van Loan came to Philadelphia from his home in Los Angeles on business. Soon after his arrival he became ill and was taken to the hospital.

His wife and two children were summoned and were at his bedside when he died. He was 43 years old.

Mr. Van Loan was born in 1876 at San Jose, Cal. For some years he was a newspaper writer in Los Angeles and New York and later contributed to the magazines.

Among his best known works were "The Big League," "The Lucky Seventh," "The $10,000 Farm," "Inside the Ropes," "Buck Parvin and the Movies," and "Old Man Curry."

Mr. Van Loan married in 1892 Miss Emma C. Lenz of Los Angeles.

Jealous Swain Shoots Sweetheart and Others

Marion, O., March 2.—After shooting Miss Docie White, 22 years old, at her home here, wounding her companion, Lee Patterson, 24 years old, of Bellefontaine, and then firing at but missing the girl's mother, Miller Herman, an Erie railroad employe, yesterday used the last bullet in his revolver on himself. He suffered only a slight wound in the forehead.

Walking coolly out of the White residence, he went to his home, two squares away, where he was arrested half an hour later.

Miss White lived an hour. Patterson died, and has not been seen, but he is known to have been wounded. Herman, the police say, confessed to the shooting, and says he did it because Miss White had turned him down for Patterson.

GIVEN DISCHARGE.

Raphael Drew, son of Supervisor J. P. Drew, who has been stationed at Camp Grant, has been granted his honorable discharge and returned to his home Saturday.

Charles Bishop, of Camp Grant, was here on a week-end visit.
